

Indiana Harbor, IN - Indiana Confined Disposal Facility

Project Description

- Navigation Project Served: Indiana Harbor and Canal
- The facility is owned and operated by the Chicago District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.
- The Indiana CDF is an upland facility attached in East Chicago, IN. The CDF is located on the north side of the Lake George Branch canal, immediately west of Indianapolis Boulevard.
- The Indiana Harbor CDF has an area of 96 acres; a current constructed capacity of 2,100,000 cubic yards, and receives about 200,000 cubic yards annually. Future dike expansion could expand the capacity of the facility to 4,800,000 cubic yards. Approximately 610,000 cubic yards of dredged material has been placed into the facility since it opened in 2011.
- Non-Federal interests may use this disposal facility if they are located in the areas identified within the original project authorization. Non-Federal users must demonstrate that the material being provided is environmentally consistent or superior to the material already confined, and will pay a tipping fee.

Project Authority

- The facility was completed in 2011 under authority from the Rivers and Harbors Acts of 1910, 1930, 1935, 1937 and 1960, WRDA 1986 and 1996, and the Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act dated 12 May 2005.

Beneficial Use Information

- Sediment from the Indiana Harbor and Canal is highly contaminated due to the very high anthropogenic compound concentrations; the channel has sediment with up to 10% by weight oil and grease, and includes 5 locations with TSCA regulated material. The dredged material confined within this facility is not suitable for beneficial reuse.

Congressional Interest

- Representative Peter Visclosky D-IN-1
- Senator Daniel Coats R-IN
- Senator Joe Donnelly D-IN
