

Disclaimer

This is to inform you that the information titled, “John Glenn Great Lakes Basin Program, Biohydrological Information Base” is provided as a public courtesy. The information provided presents a summary of data collection as a draft report.

The purpose of the Great Lakes Biohydrological Information Study is to assess the adequacy of federal information resources to support federal, state, provincial agencies when decisions are made on proposed water withdrawals from the system. However, because this is a draft report, it does not include recommendations. As such, this report is being distributed for informational purposes only at this time.